Race promotes region

Hackers cut a cut above

IT was an app made in the span of just two days that snagged a Great Southern regional startup prize at last week’s GoGet WA awards.

The GSG GoHackers team were presented with the GoGet Innovation Award at the GSG GO21 Hackathon for Most Creative Use of Web Dev.

The tech-savvy crew found their winning app with the help of their annual GoGet WA Awards, where they were challenged to design a solution to a local problem.

This year, the team was tasked with developing an app that would help city residents save money on transport costs.

The app, GoGet, is designed to help users find the cheapest and most efficient way to travel around the city, taking into account factors such as cost, time, and environmental impact.

David Kavanagh, a member of the GoGet WA team, said the app was developed in just two days as part of the GoGet WA Hackathon.

"It was a great opportunity for us to work together and come up with a solution that could benefit the community," he said.

The app has already been tested by a small group of users, and the team is now looking for more feedback before it is launched to the public.

"We are excited to see how the app will be received by the community, and we are open to suggestions for improvements," Kavanagh said.

The GoGet Innovation Award was presented by the GSG Foundation, which is a not-for-profit organisation that funds innovative projects in the Great Southern region.

"We are proud to support the GoGet WA Hackathon and the GSG GoHackers team, who are taking on an important challenge," said Foundation executive director, Kate Smith.

"The app is a great example of how technology can be used to solve real-world problems, and we are excited to see what the future holds for this team and their innovative solution."

ALBANY student Mia Swanepoel’s untitled poem about saving water earned her the regional award for the Words for Water Writing Challenge.

DAVID KAVANAGH

ALBANY student Mia Swanepoel has honed her last work for her poetry about saving water is, it is still good to remind everyone that sometimes we take the water we have for granted. “I hope my poem will show that you do not have to be famous or have done something spectacular to make a difference – just make simple changes in your everyday life to look after the planet,” she said.

Ms Swanepoel has been part of a project trying to operate a mobile food garden service in Albany to provide food relief for those in need.

Ms Swanepoel thought she was doing a service in her own small way through the mobile food garden, but she did not think her poem about water conservation was so popular. The Year 9 student from Great Southern Grammar took home the regional award for the Words for Water Writing Challenge conducted by Fremantle-based The Literature Circus.

“The main message I tried to convey in my poem was that doing little things to save water can lead to big changes,” she said.

Ms Swanepoel congratulated Mia on her win.

Parade celebrates 20 years

UWA Albany marked 20 years in the region with a celebration parade on Friday through town, culminating at the Albany Entertainment Centre with champagne, speeches and awards.

There were many distinguished guests, along with campus graduates from all eras, a marching band, school representatives, current staff and current students.

The parade started equivalently with roads closed and it was a fitting parade to mark such an important milestone for the campus and the region.

From just 20 undergraduates when it opened in 1999, UWA Albany now has more than 150 students this year.

A number of graduates from throughout the years attended the march.

More than 100 people participated in the parade.

The Weekender in conjunction with Palmerston and the Great Southern Suicide Prevention Advisory Group (GSSPAG) will be running a series of articles to improve mental health literacy, promote help-seeking behaviours and prevent life loss to suicide this week, the article is about a new local campaign to help prevent suicide in the community.

ACE: A series of articles has been developed by the Community Suicide Prevention Advisory Group (GSSPAG) to improve mental health literacy, promote help-seeking behaviours and prevent life loss to suicide.

Ask:
This can be anything you feel comfortable saying. Just ask: “Are you feeling down? Is there anything you need help with?”

Communicate:
If you are not sure a person’s emotions are under control, ask them how they are feeling. Encourage their explanation of their feelings to you.

Enlist:
If you think they are in immediate danger, ask: “Do you have a plan to hurt yourself?”

Support:
Encourage them that there is hope. Be patient. Let them know you are there for them.

Every year the Make your mark Albany Agricultural Show raises funds for Albany and Waikiki's community groups and local charities, who can apply for a grant to help with costs and respite and emergency accommodation.

This year the show is supporting the Albany Show and Woakwine West's Ewe to You competition. The Woakwine West Alpaca Farm will be at the show with their Jacobs sheep and alpaca Wool, with some activities planned.

The Albany Ewe to You competition is open to small and large farmers, with the emphasis on wool products. The days activities will include wool spinning, weaving and embroidery, an alpaca show and woolclip competition. Special activities include an alpaca and sheep dog trial and a sheep shearing competition.

---

The Albany Show attracts people from all over the region, with a wide range of activities and entertainment. Admission is $10 for adults, $6 for seniors and children, and free for those under 12.

---

The Albany Show is open from 8am to 5pm on Friday and Saturday, and 8am to 4pm on Sunday.

Fair dinkum display

EVERY year at the Albany Show, there is one major attraction or show that draws crowds and generates a lot of interest. This year’s show is no exception, with the introduction of Dinkum Dinosaurs.

Dinkum Dinosaurs is a new, custom-designed dinosaur display that brings to life some of the most iconic dinosaurs from around the world. The display will feature life-size, animatronic dinosaurs that move and interact with the audience, providing a unique and thrilling experience for all ages.

The display has been designed to educate and entertain, with interactive elements that allow visitors to learn about the fascinating world of dinosaurs. Visitors will be able to see life-size models of some of the most iconic dinosaurs, including T. rex, Triceratops, and Brachiosaurus, all brought to life through advanced technology.

In addition to the dinosaur display, the Albany Show will also feature a range of other attractions and activities, including rides, games, and exhibitions. The show runs from October 31 to November 3, and is expected to attract thousands of visitors from all over the region.

For more information, visit the Albany Show website or follow them on social media for updates and news.

Chocolate takes centre stage

FOLLOWING the success of last year’s Dinkum Dinosaurs display, the Albany Show is excited to announce the introduction of Dinkum Dinosaurs’ newest attraction – the Dinkum Dinosaur Exhibition!

The exhibition will feature a range of life-size, animatronic dinosaurs, including T. rex, Brachiosaurus, and Triceratops. Visitors will be able to see these incredible creatures up close and learn about their fascinating history and characteristics.

In addition to the dinosaur display, the exhibition will also feature a range of other attractions and activities, including rides, games, and exhibitions. The show runs from October 31 to November 3, and is expected to attract thousands of visitors from all over the region.

For more information, visit the Albany Show website or follow them on social media for updates and news.
Chef’s food for thought

GEOFF Richardson from Big’s on the Wildside, will have his cooking demonstration on Saturday, July 13, 2019, with Anna Gare. He will share some insight into himself as a chef and what to expect at the Albany Show.

What was your favourite part of last year’s show?

Last year’s show was a great, family-friendly vibe and atmosphere and it generated $10,000 worth of entries for the show.

Something that really stood out for me last year was the cattle. Last year we were surrounded by the South West cattle breeders, and the quality of the meat was just phenomenal.

It was really eye-opening to come to see the quality of the meat here, and then tasing it is a brand, and seeing these producers taking immense pride in their cattle. I really believe the quality of WA beef is there with the best in the world, and seeing these talented farmers showcasing their hard work is something special.

A great surprise for me was the inclusion of the Cake Decorating Club to the cooking demonstrations. The Cake Albany judging was so much fun, and it allowed the kids to get involved in the show and develop their skills.

What aspects of the Show worked well, from your perspective?

The Show had a great social media presence, and it’s great to see what it takes to organize an event behind the scenes. But I’m always blown away by the hard work from the Agricultural Society.

This is a major event for the region, and it’s important to make sure everything is organized and run smoothly.

Did you see what I saw?

A GREAT night at the Albany Show will be man and woman standing on a small platform, hearing siren and holding a knife. Eight years ago, a few local people banded together to make a small exhibit stand at the Albany Agricultural Show, and it’s now supporting visiting axemen from Perth, Manjimup and further afield.

This year’s event has grown with the addition of more industry and local sponsors. All the better that our local, sustainably grown vegetables are featured in this event to support local farmers, with no competition at all.

This year the event includes the incredible Iron Man Event which involves the axemen working through a series of challenges such as undertaking, standing block, chain saw and axe climb which is a serious effort.

As well as some WA’s elite axemen, this year’s event will feature some of Australia’s top competitors, including Darren Butler, Mark Bergslagen, Matt Gallagher and Peter Tuttell, three of whom will be in the event hosted in the sport.

The event helps promote the sport and the significant and important role that the sustainable timber industry have in the economy and community in the Great Southern, given the amount of people that have the interest involved. The businesses that support this do so out of the love of the sport and the social and economic contribution that it makes.

Festive family fun

ANOTHER reason to take advantage of the upcoming two-day affair of the Albany Show is the entertainment on offer on Friday night.

Albany Agricultural Society Secretary Craig Young says the night is particularly popular amongst families, with the show being a chance to get out and enjoy the festivities.

“We have an impressive Friday evening show with a side of fireworks. So entertainment is on the table, with acrobats on the floor, music on the floor, and the Printing King will be printing the show.”

The music lineup includes the Shamenboys, at 5pm, by Toast’s Dance Studio at 6pm. Spectacular at 8pm, an hour of live music from Easton from 7pm leading into 9pm.

After all the bangs and tooms, it’s The Renaissance and the Albany Rockers’ Roll Dance from 6.15pm to bring in the party vibe.

It’s an awesome family time; parents throw work, kids come down for food, entertainment, it’s a cringy family atmosphere and just fun,” Ms Cockayne said.

As for the food selections, it won’t just be the same-old, predictable fare.

“We have the largest number of food vendors ever this year and a huge range from places to Moncrieff and Show gardens. We have come from Perth, about 30 vendors in total,” Ms Cockayne said.

Last year included pork sausages, all sorts of cheeses, bread, finger foods, lots of salads, fresh fruits, desserts, sweets, kebabs and more.

Friday night offers a completely different atmosphere to the daytime Show with dozens and dozens with lots of old-school entertainments, and food, music and fun.

On the Friday night and the Saturday night we will celebrate the ‘Great Food’ and ‘Great Sausages’, and entertainment.

We also have a very exciting line-up to help the kids, with the kids’ entertainment from the Albany Show on the Friday night and I just plan to make the ‘Great Sausages’ the best ever, and the kids’ entertainment.”

Buy tickets early

TICKETS for this great event are available at a discounted price from visiting the Agricultural Society office at 68 Cockburn Road Albany or by emailing info@mbsales.net.au. The Albany Agricultural Society Secretary and Treasurer, Carolyn Cocksedge, is keen on people to get in early to save time and money. "Family bundles are great value for money," she said. "They are at a two-day pass price for nearly the same price as a single entry ticket." The website is www.albanyshow.org.au.

Woodcraft challenge set in stone

THE woodcraft section of the Albany Agricultural Show will continue its annual challenge in 2019. The challenge this year is to design and create a boxed container, for example, a sandwich to a coffin. Rules state it must be created completely by the entrant and made primarily of timber but metal or plastic fittings, hinges or joints are permitted. There is an open and young people’s class, entry is $4 and there are prizes in each category. Entries close on Monday, November 4. Expressions of interest are available by contacting section councillor Dawn Higgins at millbrook7@live.com.au.

Happy days assured at Gladville Road

WHAT a way to herald in the New Year than by putting an offer in on the impressive and luxurious, four-bedroom, family-friendly property situated in a quiet and vast high raked ceiling games area just on Albany’s outskirts. There is so much unused land, you will be able to have a fish day creating partly and productive gardens, adding some stimulus and great outdoor play equipment for the kids, or simply enjoying what is already here. Families, tradesmen to ex-farmers and city dwellers will be spoilt for space both on the land, in the home and out in the powered sheds.

The lot has dual vehicle access and you can easily drive around the entire property. Artist goes abstract

DENMARK artist Jen Mitchell is drawing on her Latvian-American heritage for an exhibition she describes as the most abstract she has ever created.

Unveiling will open at Albany’s Vancouver Street Warehouse this weekend and remain until November 2.

Mitchell defines it as a “neo-Cubist exploration of the human body” and said it is a homage to the people of Latvia, her great aunt Linda Lindeberg, known for her contribution to the American art world as well as her marriage to Italian-American artist Lincoln Perelli, who was one of the founding members of the American Abstract Expressionist Movement.

While Mitchell’s past works were in the way in which our bodies are created, this series feels different to my past work, she said.

Mitchell defi nes it as a “neo-Cubist exploration of the human body.”

Year 1 student Christian Ubani, Poppy Skeet, Maggie Stephens and Josh Pages with their paper collector created a paper project from earlier in the year and aimed to enhance student awareness of where materials are sourced from, how items are created and how they can be reused and recycled.

School’s recycling lesson

TO REINFORCE a lesson in sustainability, the Year 1 class of Great Southern Grammar created a paper collector which they plan to showcase at the school’s waste reduction program after the weekend’s Green Fair on the Square on York Street.

Teacher Sarah Liley is one of many teachers at the school driving a waste reduction program after the school collected a full waste bin and was unable to place it on the teachers’ car park.

“The kids didn’t realise just how much food waste and paper waste there was,” she said.

“So now, we have a recycling bin in the classroom for paper and cardboard and a separate bin for plastic, and we’re looking into having storm water recycling bins and a food composting bin outside.”

Liley said she was teaching her students about sustainable living and recycling material and the difference between the two concepts.

She learned more about long-neck turtles too, Year 1 student Poppy Skeet said she had lots of fun using paper for papier mache and lots of sticky glue.

Recipe supplied by: DENMARK & NORTH ROAD

Ingredients (Serves four)

- 1 packet beef ribs
- 10g flour
- 5g Moroccan spice
- 1 brown onion sliced
- 1 green capsicum sliced
- 3 cloves garlic sliced
- 1 tsp crushed tomato
- Salt and pepper
- Olive oil
- 1 cup pearl couscous
- Chopped parsley
- Greek yoghurt
- 1 cup water/stock
- 1 lemon.

Method

1) Pre-heat oven to 180 degrees.
2) Mix flour and spice together and coat ribs in it.
3) Heat up oven proof frying pan, add oil and add off beef ribs, season with salt and pepper.
4) Add onion, garlic and capsicum and sweat off with browned beef.
5) Add tomato and water, bring to the simmer and cover and place in oven for 30 mins.
6) Take out after 30 mins and add pearl couscous, stir into liquid.
7) Cover back up and place back into oven for another 20 mins.
8) Take out and make sure beef is cooked and serve in a dish with natural yoghurt and fresh parsley.
9) Squeeze fresh lemon over the dish.

TOPS:

The dish needs to be wet so don’t hesitate to add more stock or water. You will also need lots of salt and pepper.
Acadia at forefront of technology

TECHNOLOGY in new cars increases at an incredible rate. It doesn’t seem that long ago that I used to get out of my name to varnish the take-home food from the drive-thru because the window wouldn’t open.

Now take this spectacular new Holden Acadia 2LT 3.6L Petrol Auto. It’s not only to an incredible extent that it’s an important part of the car but it’s a feature on the other hand. It would not only come in a car but in new cars, different, understand and change possibly the Auto to a permanently.

Yes, the window in the latter may not be a miracle worker but you get the idea.

Like my voice of reason friend, it’s not only intelligent and aesthetically pleasing, but comes packed with many extras that take your breath away.

The Acadia is a genuine seven-seater, there is a well-designed premium interior and cleverly integrated storage. There’s a seven-year free scheduled maintenance warranty and you cannot go wrong.

Call into Albany City Holden on Earl Street for a test drive of the amazing kilometre warranty and you cannot go on longer journeys.

There was no way I was going to drive the Acadia LTZ 3.6L Petrol AWD Auto.

I drove just a week back and forth between the Holden Top Gun 2 and grinned it to be probably the best top I have done on a charter boat.

Once home I had a lot of trips on charter boats but I have never seen a fish but what made the best was a real top picture stuff.

The first thing was it was not a pre-planned trip. I had not planned to go fishing but I had plans to a trip to fish the Montebellos and take some photos to promote the business. I had to do so was get to Exmouth.

There was no way I was going to drive the Acadia LTZ 3.6L Petrol AWD Auto.

I was also pleased to find out that we would be able to take the boat crew to look after us. Hugh (a skipper) Andy (a skipper) and Frances (a German) were on the trip.

The other punter were a young couple and the 20-year tackle strip waker and a senior fisherman who had fished on Top Gun many times.

The next morning, we left Exmouth with a fresh fish, salads and chips and a couple of nice drinks.

This next day was the slowest day we had in many years. What made this trip the best was real big fish but what made this the best was a real top picture stuff.

CJD Equipment Albany is a family-owned business that distributes and services a wide range of MECH, fuel, filters, exhaust, steering, and bad trucks across the region. Although part of a large franchised network, Branch Manager Brian Wimbush assures customers that his locally-managed branch provides an excellent, personal service a person could expect from a local business. “The goal is to be open and honest and to provide friendly, quality service to our customers,” he said. “We sell an Austrailia-wide deal that suits the customer.”

Mr Wimbush says Kenworth, DAF, Cummins and Volvo Earthmoving are the company’s main brands, but also supplies a wide range of heavy vehicles, such as Hino, Isuzu, and Freightliner.

“The parts department supplies a wide range of parts for all heavy machines, no matter the make and this is what sets us aside from other part retail shops except for other parts, apart from other part retail shops. CJD Equipment Albany is located on Charles Street in Milpara and can be contacted by calling 9841 2400.”

Metroll, Albany understands that the best kind of supplier is one who treats its customers like partners, someone who is willing to listen to specific needs and requirements.

“More people take our excellent customer service, and our highly responsive service times mean that we can provide you with the kind of best delivery that you need,” he said. “And since Metroll owns its own fleet of trucks, you’ll find that our service is not only reliable but that we also take exceptionally good care of the products we supply.”

Metroll offers a wide range of profiles to suit all types of projects from small residential renovations through to large commercial buildings or sheds, all made from high-quality materials. “We manufacture only the highest quality products from the best quality materials,” Mr Scott said. “We use Australian steel that comes with the backing of a destination warrant. If we can create an environment that our products and service are of the best standard possible.”

Appetising bush food forum

A DYNAMIC forum hosted in Albany county to reflect on and examine cultural renewal opportunities in the expanding national bush food market will take place next month.

South Coast NRM is convening ‘Ayakadi’ – an Aboriginal food producers, traders and market-place owners – to convene in a day-long conference to specialise in blue gum stump removal using

RT800 & RT400 stump grinders. Paddock restoration to pasture or cropping stage. Also available excavator & tractor-mounted mulchers.

Blue gum stump removal doesn’t have to cost the earth.

Rabbit biocontrol release

A RECENT release of a Korean strain of the Rabbit Haemorrhagic Disease Virus (RHDV-K6) placed in the next few weeks to reduce the numbers of European rabbits (Oryctolagus cuniculus). The release sites are in Albany, Narooma, Wagga, Cranbrook and mittee of European rabbits is a huge problem for many rural communities, as they are often seen as an off-spring of bush fires.

The virus only affects rabbits and seems to kill any other animals, including cattle, sheep, dogs and hares. The virus is highly contagious and other biting insects and birds can also transmit between the small or poll rabbits.

There is no cure, and research suggests that the same strain of virus is found in Asia and South East Asia.

A RECENT release of a Korean strain of the Rabbit Haemorrhagic Disease Virus (RHDV-K6) placed in the next few weeks to reduce the numbers of European rabbits (Oryctolagus cuniculus). The release sites are in Albany, Narooma, Wagga, Cranbrook and South Coast Natural Resource Management (NRM) Land and Water Program Manager David Broadhurst told the committee of European rabbits is a huge problem for many rural communities, as they are often seen as an off-spring of bush fires.

The virus only affects rabbits and seems to kill any other animals, including cattle, sheep, dogs and hares. The virus is highly contagious and other biting insects and birds can also transmit between the small or poll rabbits.

There is no cure, and research suggests that the same strain of virus is found in Asia and South East Asia.

Speedway welcomes sidecar daredevils

The gates were opened for the first time on Saturday night for the Albany Speedway Club 2019-2020 season when they had the annual opening night at the Albany Speedway Club

After a successful return to the venue last season, riders were excited to get back on the oval with long straights of the Great Southern track and turns of the new surface.

After winning their first two heats, brother and sister combination Jeff and Daniel Bishop were favourite to take the third along with final honours were found out due to the rescheduling timing.

Ticking off the wing and left, it was all to the final that saw Dylan Milton launch his bike and pass counterpart Dylan O'Brien off the line the quickest to take the lead into the first bend and he held on to the lead to the end.

Although they didn’t win the final, Rasey Lippett and his passenger Jesse Thomas took out the points win ahead of Jordan Jewell and Eli Thompson securing the third step of the podium.

On the local front, there were some great numbers in each division which is promising for the season ahead and they all raised the bar in the class.

Formerly 125cc but has a strong nine-car field headed by Nathan Pearson, who is the current state champion and after a season off, former champion Chad Harvey,ARSER CARRYS

The club’s next event is on Saturday, 5 November, when we will hold our annual fundraising event with the entry open to all 12-year-olds and over

RAILWAYS took home by three points in a thriller against Knights on Tuesday night in round-three of the Albany Basketball’s Association Men A Grade.

Luke McGuire hit three-pointers in the second and fourth quarters to help the Knights secure their second win of the season.

With 13 seconds left for the home side to come back, Knights fell just short of Railway making it a 72-69 final score.

For the victory, Hanrich Alfrique was named man of the match as he scored 13 points and was assisted by Harry Alfrique who hit 11 points.

Railways U18 Boys bounced back from a loss last week with a 73-63 victory over the Steelmen as the Knights were yet to win against.

Liam Macklin and David Abbott were threats throughout the game both finishing with 20 points.

For Blues, Jeffrey Paton also scored 10 points while the gifted Stuart Myers finished with six points.

In the final game, Tigers won their first game of the year beating Ambassadors 72-57.

Both Holmes was dominant with 11 points while Tim Batten and Cory Hill stepped up to stand with 10 points.

Ryan Barber with 11 and Colby Cameron with 9 points making up the Ambassadors score.

In the Women’s A Grade, Rangers continued their shutdown streak defeating Valiantics 45-36 in a high-quality game.

Pallinri had an even spread of scoring led by Ellis Scoups with 11 and Brandon Kawai with 9. Ashleigh Fielding continued her rich vein of form with scoring their highest total of 14 points, while their fellow teammates with 12 points and Yosikoa Woon had 14 points.

Kerforgd Storm consolidated second spot with a 76-21 victory over Raiders U18 Girls who remain winless.

Jade Dimer had a blinder nailing 19 points, while the Blues were also on target finishing with 11 points.

Weeden had 10 points. In the Men’s B Grade, Ambassadors had one of his best nights getting away which had Marcus Jewell who got the jump back to the race.

On the restart, it was an all-in final that saw Hunter afair who hit the track in each class.

With the addition of the minimum age for competitors has also been increased from eight to 10-years-old, reducing the season’s recommendation.

5 Tips: How to get the most out of your fitness class

By AMBER CUEVIANA - Nutritional personal trainer & chef

HAVEN’T YOU wanted to join a fitness class or class, but you’re unsure of what to expect? Follow these five tips to ensure a smooth start to your journey.

1. Listen to the run down.
Don’t come out when your instructor, trainer or coach is giving over the format of the class. This pre-session will help you avoid getting lost during the session and get any equipment sorted.

2. Start in the slow lane.
Fitness is a marathon, not a sprint. Start at a slower pace and with lighter weights/lower impact options and work your way up. Your trainer will help manage your progression, ensure you’re not too tired and get the most out of each moment.

3. Pay attention to the forecast.
When a weather reporter gives a forecast, be sure to record it. When your instructor cues what’s coming, help you avoid getting lost during the session and get any equipment sorted.

4. Follow the map.
Your coach will correct your form. Tighten your core, keep a good posture and maintain your balance. This is inzonelining your postural and kinetic positions. Only allow an instructor to exit/take over to isolate and execute these five tips for the best and most effective workout.

5. Dress for success.
This means to wear comfortable, form-fitting workout attire and appropriate running shoes. Don’t forget to accessorise with a bottle of water as you stay hydrated during class, and a towel to wipe your sweat.
